The Province has released its updated COVID-19 modelling today confirms that the Province is experiencing a second wave. This updated model provides the public with some powerful information about the potential health consequences if we are not all collectively following the well-known public health measures. The government has now announced their plan for social assistance recovery and renewal. It will change the way that both municipally administered Ontario Works and the provincial Ontario Disability Support Programs are delivered and structured. There are no indications that it will increase municipal costs. A primary goal is to redirect human resources from doing administration to providing more frontline service to clients. The focus will be on improved access to employment and training services, developing new digital tools and modern service options, and ways to process financial assistance faster.
